

GLOBAL FINANCIAL CAPITAL OF NEW YORK

70 Broad Street, New York, NY 10004 • 212-809-7010 • info@GFCNY.net

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PRESS RELEASE

Norman Zierold 202-251-7014

GLOBAL FINANCIAL CAPITAL OF NEW YORK ANNOUNCES $1 BILLION BAILOUT PLAN

Plan will quell global fears, stimulate the world economy, even promote good fortune

"Sound risky? Show me a comparable body of research to support that the current $700 billion bailout will work. I call that risky."

— PRESS CONFERENCE —

John Hagelin, Ph.D.

Executive Director, Global Financial Capital of New York

Tuesday, October 28 • 11 AM • 70 Broad Street, New York City

To watch a replay of this press conference, click here.

The video file may take a few minutes to download

Fear grips the markets, sending Wall Street into a tailspin and the world towards a recession.

However, one financial institution is confident the downturn can be halted and economic growth quickly restored: The Global Financial Capital of New York, located at 70 Broad St., one block from the NYSE, under the leadership of world-renowned quantum physicist John Hagelin, Ph.D.

According to Dr. Hagelin, the Global Financial Capital of New York is offering Wall Street "Vedic technologies of consciousness," which, he says, "can bring calm and stability to the markets, stimulate the economy, and promote good fortune for the country."

During an international news conference held on Tuesday, October 28, 11 a. m., at the Global Financial Capital of New York, Dr. Hagelin outlined his plan to

- Teach the Transcendental Meditation program of Maharishi Mahesh Yogi to Wall Street firms to reduce stress and anxiety and improve leadership and decision-making skills.
- Establish in New York one large group of 1,000 experts practicing

John Hagelin, Ph.D.

Global Financial
Capital of New York
70 Broad Street

these technologies to create coherent national consciousness

- Enlarge the current group of 2,000 experts to 8,000 experts at Maharishi University of Management in Fairfield, Iowa, to create coherence for the whole world—the basis of an invincible, prosperous global economy. Establish a similar group in Asia—in India with 8,000 specially trained advanced Vedic experts.
- Implement other advanced Vedic technologies to predict and neutralize economic, social, and environmental disasters before they arise.

Dr. Hagelin said dozens of studies have been published in leading scientific journals on the effects of group meditation on society, which show improved economic growth along with other positive effects, including reduced crime and violence.

“The Transcendental Meditation technique is a systematic, scientific procedure to directly experience the Unified Field, the most fundamental and powerful level of nature’s functioning,” Dr. Hagelin said.

“Research shows this experience generates highly coherent brain functioning, increasing creativity and intelligence, while providing deep physiological rest and reducing stress in the individual. When practiced in groups, research shows the calming effect of meditation spreads throughout society, creating coherence and order, while increasing creativity in society as a whole—providing the basis for a stable, growing economy.”

Dr. Hagelin said the cost to permanently establish these large groups of advanced meditation experts is about $1 billion. “The investment income from the $1 billion endowment fund will permanently sustain these groups,” he said.

“Sound risky? Show me a comparable body of research to support that the current $700 billion bailout will work. I call that risky,” Dr. Hagelin said.

To watch a replay of this press conference, click here.

###